

Convention: power rails above components; GND below.

